

Illustration by Jake Smith

A pool of crystal water

Always the sun is warm and cool

A refreshing cold breeze — heaven.

Zeke Keating

Illustration by Olivia Strang

Haiku nàdair (Nature Haiku)

Brèagha agus snog (Lovely and nice)

Latha teth sa choille bhrèagha. (A warm day in the lovely forest)

Grian dol sìos. (The sun going down)

Le Lewis Lang

Illustration by Olivia Strang

Haiku nàdair (Nature Haiku)

Brèagha agus snog (Lovely and nice)

Latha teth sa choille bhrèagha. (A warm day in the lovely forest)

Grian dol sìos. (The sun going down)

Le Lewis Lang

Illustration by Cori Thomas

Nàdar sa choille (Nature in the forest)

Cho snog ri dathan (As nice as colours)

Oidhche cho fuar ris an deigh (A night as cold as ice)

Nàdar cho brèagha (Nature is so lovely)

Le Caitlin Gilmartin

Illustration by Aria Grillo

Nàdar (Nature)

Duilleagan àlainn (Lovely leaves)

Le na beathaichean sgoinneil (With the wonderful animals)

Bliadhna air leth (What a great year)

Le David Findlay

Illustration by Ellie Breakell

Entering the green, summery park
The natural sun light bouncing off me.
The greatest, magical place ever.

Malaika Imran

Illustration by Layla McQueen

Fast cars, blowing the leaves
The leaves fearlessly flying into the air
When engines elegantly elevate them.

Alexander McDonald

Illustration by Gracie McMahon

A-mach air Chuairt (Out on a walk)

Geugan a' tuiteam (Branches falling)

Flùraichean a' dùsgadh tràth (Flowers waking up early)

Grian air uisge (The sun on the water)

Le Archie Wilson

Illustration by Eva Kirkpatrick

Nàdar san Loch (Nature in the loch)

H-uile loch àlainn (All the lochs are lovely)

Uisge gorm, èisg a' snàmh (Blue water, fish swimming)

Nì seo an gnothach (This will do the job)

Le Matthew Speirs

Happiness, joy and overall peace.

The water reflects these emotions to me.

Glistening, showing nature's true beauty.

Lara Hughes

Illustration by Iona McKune

Flùraichean (Flowers)

Is toil leam nàdar (I like nature)

is flùraichean buidhe aig (and yellow flowers)

beul na h-oidhche (at sundown)

Le Niamh McClure

Illustration by Aria Grillo

Luchag bheag (Little mouse)

Luch bheag bhìodach chòir. (Tiny, little, kind mouse)

Luch bheag a' goid a' chàise. (Little mouse stealing cheese)

Math leis an teaghlach. (Good to be with the family)

Le Lewis Lang

Illustration by Myles Pinder

Seoclaid theth (Hot chocolate)

Muga seoclaid theth (A mug of hot chocolate)

Faisg air an teine àlainn (near the lovely fire)

Fo phlaide mhòr bhog (under the big, soft blanket)

Le Nicholas McGowan

Illustration by Logan Griffin

Nàdar (Nature)

Nach seo tha iongantach (Isn't this wonderful)

Flùraichean a' fàs brèagha (The flowers growing lovely)

Toilichte is ciùin (Happy and calm)

Le Niamh McClure

Illustration by Olivia Calvert

Nàdar An Damhair (October Nature)

Oiteag cho fuar (Very cold gusts of wind)

Duilleagan àlainn air craobh (Lovely leaves on the tree)

Duilleagan dearg (Red leaves)

Le Caitlin Gilmartin

Illustration by Iona Dorans

Peapag (Pumpkin)

Peapag cho orains (A very orange pumpkin)

a tha eagallach agus (that is scary)

uabhasach mòr (and very big)

Le Nicholas McGowan, Alice Hall & Emily Hall

Illustration by Teigan McLaughlan

Oidhche Bhrèagha (Lovely night)

Rionnagan rùnach (Mysterious stars)

Oidhche a' coimhead brèagha (The night is looking lovely)

Sgòthan sònraichte (Special clouds)

Le Matthew Speirs

Illustration by Jake Smith

Running about like we're kids
Feeling free to explore like the wind
Memories this great forest holds.

Matthew Alstor

Illustration by Lewis Storey

Haiku Nàdair (Nature Haiku)

Sgòthan san adhar (Clouds in the air)

Èisg a' snàmh anns an uisge (Fish swimming in the water)

Nì sin an gnothach (That will do the job)

Le Mikail-Adam Halliday

Illustration by Ava Boon

Nàdair (Nature)

Tha na beathaichean (The animals are) a' cluich le na duilleagan (playing with the leaves)
cho fuar a' sgèith. (that are so cold flying)

Le Alice Hall

Illustration by Lewis Storey

Uisge Gorm (Blue Water)

Uisge cho gorm (Very blue water)

Uisge a' spleasadh suas (Water splashing up)

Stoirm cho làidir (A very strong storm)

Le Emily Hall