SUPPLEMENTAL PRINTING PROCESSES

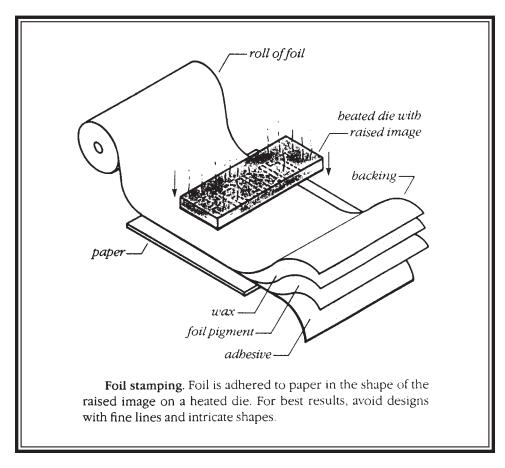

Die cutting. Dies for cutting are made of thin, sharpened metal mounted onto a plywood base which in turn is mounted onto a letter press. The press forces the steel cutting edge into the paper. After cutting, the rubber pads push the paper away from the die, allowing it to continue through the press.

Die Cutting

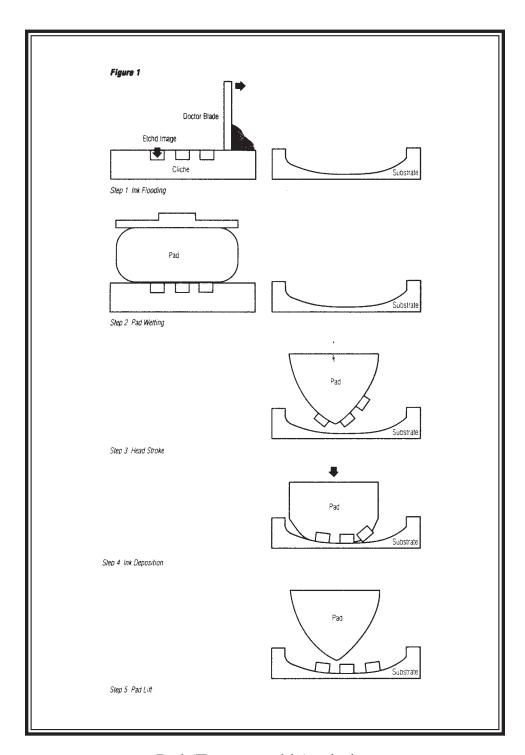

SUPPLEMENTAL PROCESSES—PAGE 2

Foil stamping

SUPPLEMENTAL PROCESSES—PAGE 3

Pad (Tampographic) printing