Greengairs Primary School Parental Engagement Policy

Key Message

Parents/ carers play a vital role in education. The biggest influence on a child's life is their family therefore children learn best when their parents and carers are actively engaged and involved in their school life. When parents/ carers are involved in supporting their child's learning they will achieve more.

Parental Engagement

There are several key elements which are fundamental to ensuring that all children are given the same opportunities in their learning in order to reach their potential. Parental engagement is one of these. Parental engagement is when a parent or carer is involved in supporting their child's learning.

In order to support their child's learning parents/ carers need to be aware of their child's current progress and areas for development at key stages.

Relationships are the key to building strong and real partnership with parents/ carers. It is vital that school staff strive to build caring and trusting relationships with families and demonstrate a strong commitment to working together.

In ensuring parental engagement the school will:

- Establish positive relationships where parents'/ carer's views are encouraged and valued.
- Maintain good communication with all parents/ carers.
- Identify and remove any barriers that may stop parents/ carers from engaging in school life.
- Help parents/ carers to support their child's learning at home.

Parental engagement will be encouraged through:

- Progress meetings with parents/ carers and pupils.
- Parent/ carer workshops.
- End of year progress reports.
- Special events such as shows, concerts, sports day and other activities.

Family Learning

Family learning is where members of the family learn together. Rather than focus on a parent/ carers relationship with the school. It encourages parents/ carers to actively participate in their child's learning.

What does this mean for our children?

Parents and families are the biggest influence on a child's life. Making their parents or carers proud is a key driving force for children to achieve and learn. When children hear how proud their parents or carers are of them it will encourage them to work hard and do their best. Children will get the opportunity to learn with their family in school.

What does this mean for our Parents?

As a parent or carer you are the most influential person in your child's life and your opinion of them is what matters the most. By engaging in family learning you will help to overcome social or economic disadvantage and will encourage your child to develop a positive attitude to learning that will continue through their life time.
