

Financial Capability e-Learning

Are you worried about making your money last week to week?

Would you like to feel more in control of your finances?

moneyadvicescotland
Scotland's Money Charity

Savings

Having a Baby

Budgeting and Financial Planning

Understanding
Tax

Redundancy

Borrowing

Insurance

Setting
Up Home

Financial Capability e-Learning

Money Advice Scotland, supported by the Money Advice Service, have launched a Financial Capability e-Learning Module, designed to help you improve your money management and budgeting skills. The module covers eight different topics around personal finance.

The module will help you create your own personal household budget and to prepare financially for the future, with lots of hints and tips around how to save money along the way. It doesn't matter if you have never budgeted before, or would just like to improve your financial awareness—there will be something in the module for you.

To register for the module, contact a member of the Financial Capability Team.

The e-Learning Module allows the user to work through the Module at their own time and pace.

If you would like further money advice, or are worried about debt, you can contact Scotland's Financial Health Service helpline free on 0800 707 6696 for further help and information.