Dear Parents/Carers,

Book Week Scotland is fast approaching. From the week beginning 18th November we will be looking closely at reading and literacy within our classes and throughout the whole school. We will be taking part in a range of reading activities and experiences.

We are keen to involve you as parents and carers throughout the week. We are looking for some volunteers to come in to our classes and share a story of their choice. This can be with small groups of pupils or the whole class. At Bargarran, we place a great emphasis on reading for enjoyment and it would be great for pupils to see different adults throughout the school sharing their enjoyment of reading. You can choose reading material of your choice or we have a great selection of books within our school libraries.

If you tell us your availability, we can hopefully arrange a time that suits.

Thank you for your support with this.

A Druce . C. Alexander
