Learning Intentions: In this exercise you are going to look at a drawing of a pillow made by an artist called Albert Durer. He was famous for the accurate way in which he drew the world around him. In this drawing he used a pen and ink to make the marks. Albert Durer made this drawing in 1493, but it looks like something we could find in our houses today. You are going to try and copy this drawing as accurately as you can. You will need to look closely at the way he makes the lines curve to suggest the folds in the pillow

Extension

Find out 5 facts about Albert Durer and write them in your sketchbook

Success Criteria

- Does your drawing have the same shape as the pillow?
- Have you followed the same direction as the lines on the pillow?

Evaluation

Now evaluate your drawing in your sketchbook using two stars and a wish!
