read&write texthelp®

learning doesn't end in the classroom

At Texthelp, we want to ensure that every student has the essential literacy skills to read, write, and communicate with confidence and independence. That's why we developed Read&Write, why it's used by 25 million people worldwide, and why it's available for your child to use in school.

We'd like to invite you along to a short, virtual parents' evening to show you just how effectively Read&Write can help you to support your child's education, regardless of age, ability, or learning challenges.

Date: Thursday 27th August 2020
Time: 6:30pm to 8:00pm

We'll show you how Read&Write can be used to:

➜ Support children with literacy challenges such as dyslexia or English language learners with text to speech, predictive text, Talk & Type, dictionaries, and picture dictionaries

➜ Develop your child's literacy skills with spelling, grammar, punctuation, and homophone proofing

➜ Assist your child during exam time with revision research, highlighting features, and also as a computer reader in exams

➜ Suit your child's individual learning needs by customising the toolbar
