

Andy Goldsworthy Land Art

Lots of Andy Goldsworthy's outdoor sculptures involve circles, arches or spirals. Go outside and gather natural materials, such as sticks, leaves, moss, flowers, basically anything you think would work.

Decide on a shape and create a sculpture. Sketch out your plan first here:

Afterwards, take a photo of your sculpture using a camera or tablet, just like Andy Goldsworthy does with many of his sculptures. Can you return the following day (or a few days later) and take a photograph to show how your sculpture has changed?