Book Week Scotland

Dear Parents/Carers,

Here at Dailly Primary School and Early Years Centre we are very keen to promote the enjoyment of reading as much as possible, and what better way to celebrate this than playing our part in Scottish Book Week, Monday 18th – Friday 22nd November. Therefore, next week we will be running a series of lessons, activities and initiatives to encourage our pupils and the wider Dailly community to share the joy of reading.

We would love nothing more than if families could join us in the school during the week to be part of things. So here are a few of simple ways of getting involved:

- Join us in school each morning next week between 9.00 – 9.45 to read with your child or children.
- P1, 2 & 3 parents and carers can join us on Thursday morning 9.00 – 10.30, to collect their Read, Write, Count bags from the bookbug and take part in the activities and presentations.
- Read a bedtime story to your child each evening.
- Take part in our book swap – swap shops will be set up in the foyers at the Primary and the EYC for people to leave an old book and take another, these can be adult or children's books.
- Make a real effort to encourage your child to read every day to instil good habits, what better way than reading yourself?

Got any other ideas? Please let us know.

If you have any questions regarding any of the above then please contact the school.

Thank you for your continued support
