

SOUTH AYRSHIRE READS – IN IT TOGETHER

Liz Candlish is the strategic lead officer for parental engagement within South Ayrshire Reads. She will be visiting the school on Monday morning as part of our Parents' Open Day and looks forward to meeting you all.

South Ayrshire Reads is a new and exciting initiative to support our children to be confident readers who can enjoy all forms of reading throughout their lives. The involvement of parents, families and carers in this is a key part of this development starting with the very earliest experiences our children have as babies, moving into play and games and continuing through each stage of their lives.

Reading is a skill that opens up the world for our children and young people. While this might be important in school, it provides opportunities far beyond into the world of work and society in general.
