He is more willing to participate in activities without me

The ORIM (September '19)

We shared ideas and strategies to help us realise the many Opportunities for us as adults to Recognise, Interact and Model new skills and techniques to our children throughout many daily activities and routines.

Emma is sharing more after these sessions. She also listens more when I speak to her.

It is good to have some uninterrupted time without siblings.

Really enjoyable sessions. Great variety.

Please come along and join us next time.

2nd time around for me. Still very enjoyable for children and adults.

We had fun. Glad we came and we will continue to come again.
