Top Study Tips

What are your top tips for success in this subject?

ML is a skills-based subject - 4 key skills of listening, talking, reading and writing are equally important. Completing homework assignments regularly is vital. Then:

LISTENING - do as much as you can outside of class, songs, radio, films, series on Netflix etc will all help to boost your listening skills.

TALKING - take full advantage of class time to speak in French/Spanish and rehearse talking about key topics at home. The more you say it out loud, the easier it becomes. If unsure of pronunciation, ask your teacher to help you.

READING - try to find something online that interests you - reading the sports page of a French/Spanish newspaper online for example.

WRITING - self-assess writing for content, accuracy and language resource.

Useful Resources

Textbooks, revision guides, class materials etc.

Bright Red Study Guides for N5/Higher French and/or Spanish. These are accessible Study Guides which accompany the course. Limited supply available in school - they can also be bought second hand to ensure you have a copy.

Class materials are posted on Teams - you will find presentations, links to grammar videos etc.

Directed Writing booklets, Grammar booklets - these are essential for writing and translation elements of the course.

Your own jotter notes - look over what you have worked on in class and ensure you go over any new vocabulary and/or grammar points to consolidate your learning.

Websites & Online Support

Useful websites, online tools or apps.

Attend any Grade Booster sessions on offer - these are usually skill specific workshops. If you find one skill particularly challenging, make sure you attend the workshop for that.

When producing a piece of writing or a plan for a talk, remember to self-assess your work for content, accuracy, and language resource.

Content - have you covered everything asked of you?
Accuracy - spelling/pronunciation, word order, adjective agreement, correct use of tenses etc.

Language resource - have you used a wide range of vocabulary and structures; have you shown your knowledge of different tenses etc?
