

Design a Building Brick Model

Amazing Fact

Since the year 2000, Lego sets have been a better investment than both stocks and shares or gold, with the value (what they are worth) of sets increasing by about 12%. The set which has increased in value the most – the Ultimate Collector’s Millennium Falcon – has increased in value from £342.49 to £2712!

Challenge

What would you like to see made from building bricks? Maybe it is something that could be useful to people. Maybe it could change the way we live. Use the space below to design something that could be made from building bricks.

You could also try to find out:

- about different ways people invest money;
- how ‘interest’ works;
- which other toys have become collector’s items;
- what the most expensive Lego set ever made is.
