

These are Ariel's sisters. I have a sister too.

Ariel's sisters like to sing and dance, just like my sister. Sometimes, Ariel sings and dances with them and sometimes I sing and dance with my sister too.

If Ariel's sisters are bothering her, she just swims away or tries to think about something else. I can do that when my sister bothers me too!

Scuttle and Flounder are Ariel's friends.

They like to share things and play with each other.

They talk nicely to each other and try to work out their problems together.

When they need help working out a problem, instead of fighting or arguing, they ask Sebastian for help.

Cruella De Vil's rules for telling a story

1. You have to tell someone that you are talking about a movie, TV show or a book.
2. You need to ask if someone wants to hear your story. If they have already heard it, they may not want to hear it again.
3. When someone says it is time to stop telling your story, stop. You will get a chance to tell your story again another time.