

Word Classes

Consider what type of word needs to go in each gap, thinking is it a noun, verb, adjective or adverb before adding an appropriate word.

Harry and Ron met Hermione in the _____ room before breakfast next morning. _____ for some support for his theory, Harry lost no time in _____ Hermione what he had overheard Malfoy _____ on the Hogwarts Express.

'But he was obviously showing off for Parkinson, wasn't he?' _____ Ron _____, before Hermione could say anything.

'Well,' she said _____, 'I don't know... it would be like Malfoy to make himself seem more _____ than he is... but that's a big lie to tell...'

'Exactly,' said Harry, but he could not press the point, because so many people were trying to _____ in to his conversation, not to mention _____ at him and _____ behind their hands.

'It's rude to point,' Ron _____ at a particularly _____ first-year as they joined the queue to climb out of the portrait hole. The boy, who had been _____ something about Harry behind his hand to his friend, promptly turned scarlet and _____ out of the hole in alarm. Ron sniggered.
