

Being able to discuss my work (eg, the past paper questions) in a small group with a partner was good because..... 102

I could get different ideas for the answers which helped me go to the correct answer.

It was easy to understand my partner and we taught each other things.

Being able to discuss my work (eg, the past paper questions) in a small group or with a partner was good because..... I can relate to my friend's work and share answers. Also you don't feel under pressure as much when talking to a friend rather than talking to a teacher.

It helps you understand what you are doing and more likely to get right answers. Everyone puts something like a question so you get different answers.

Being able to discuss my work (eg, the past paper questions) in a small group or with a partner was good because..... It gave me an opportunity to ask questions.

Being able to discuss my work (eg, the past paper questions) in a small group or with a partner was good because..... you can ask questions of the other people in your group. You can also ask questions of the other people in your group.

Being able to discuss my work (eg, the past paper questions) in a small group or with a partner was good because..... you can share ideas & queries with each other so you can help each other out.

I could check my answers and understand where I went wrong if I did. Also it lets me hear how other people got to the answer and compare my answers with them (detail, accuracy etc). They also help to reassure you that you're doing fine.

Being able to discuss my work (eg, the past paper questions) in a small group or with a partner was good because.....

It opens you up to other ideas and helps you understand what other people are thinking. It also means that you and who ever your working with can eliminate wrong answers to questions the correct ones.

Being able to discuss my work (eg, the past paper questions) in a small group or with a partner was good because.....

We all combined our knowledge and brought each other facts about the subject we didn't know.

Being able to discuss my work (eg, the past paper questions) in a small group or with a partner was good because.....

My friend does not understand so I help him and he helps me. I have a friend.

Being able to discuss my work (eg, the past paper questions) in a small group or with a partner was good because.....

Sometimes your own answers were only part of the full answer required. Often there are questions you don't understand. It can help make you think about the questions because there are people in the same class.

You were able to pick up on mistakes.

My partner showed me why I got an answer.

Being able to discuss my work (eg, the past paper questions) in a small group or with a partner was good because.....

It helps me to understand if I get other people's views and ideas because sometimes I could be wrong and with the help of a partner, I could change my ideas and understand things better.