

What do you know?

A chalkboard with the question "What is Spring?" written in red chalk, enclosed in a yellow chalk outline. The chalkboard is on a dark, textured surface, possibly asphalt or concrete, with some dry leaves and moss visible at the top. The text is written in a cursive, handwritten style. The yellow outline is irregular and hand-drawn, framing the text. There is a small white object, possibly a piece of chalk, on the right side of the board.
