

Welcome Back Primary 1!

I hope that you had a lovely Easter and enjoyed the nice weather.

This week you are learning lots of exciting things. Here are some links to support your learning:

- Watch a short clip that shows the lifecycle of a butterfly:

Tuesday 21st April 2020

This week you are learning about symmetry. There are many activities that can be completed to help support this such as creating a symmetrical picture using lego, leaves, pasta or hama beads. Ask a grown up to take a picture and share them on the school blog or e-mail it to your teacher.

To support you in learning about symmetry here are some more ideas (these are optional):

- Watch a bite sized clip about symmetry:

- Play a game on topmarks:

<https://www.topmarks.co.uk/symmetry/symmetry-matching>

- If you want an extra challenge I have attached some sheets to complete.

Wednesday 22nd April 2020

This week you are learning about characters in books. There are many activities that can be completed to help support this such as reading a lots of stories, drawing pictures or watching a movie.

To support you to learn about characters here are some more ideas (these are optional):

- Watch a bite sized clip to explain what a character is:

<https://www.bbc.co.uk/bitesize/topics/zpccwmn/articles/zqf32nb>

- Complete a book review about your favourite story. I have added some links to Easter stories below. The sheet is attached.

Thursday 23rd April 2020

This week you are learning about Islam. It is important to respect and show kindness to others no matter what they believe. Today marks the start of the Islamic religious festival of Ramadan. Muslims believe that Ramadan marks the time when the prophet Muhammad received the words of the Koran.

Here are some clips and facts about Ramadan and I have attached a powerpoint to explain in more detail.
