A Garden

For our writing task this week, we are going to describe a garden.

Today we will plan our writing by drawing a clear, detailed picture and labelling it.

First, you need to draw the picture. What might you find in a garden?

Next, talk about your picture with a grown up and ask them to help you label the nouns.

Finally, think about any verbs or adjectives you might need. Write these words in a box.

I have made a picture to remind you of what your plan should look like, but of course yours will look quite different, and probably much better! (They usually do, don't they!)

• Reading

Sumdog

Try to spend 15 – 20 minutes on Sumdog Reading.

Oxford Owl

Log in to the Oxford Owl website using the details that have been sent out to you, and take some time to browse through the books on the bookshelf. Choose a book from the bookshelf to read by yourself.

Numeracy

- Counting

How many do you see?

Choose 'Direct' and the number range you would like to practise.

- Time

Look at the analogue clock.

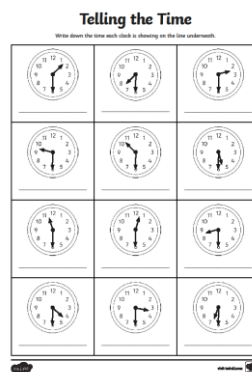

Today the long hand is pointing straight down to the number 6.

We say this is a half past time.

half past 2

Here are some clocks to help you practise telling half past times.

OR

Tell a grown up the time shown on each clock
Write the times on the sheet or in your jotter.

Story

Here is a story about one of our favourite characters – Percy the Park Keeper. It's read by Nick Butterworth who of course is the author and illustrator of the book. I hope you enjoy it.
