Do you have any coins in your house?

Gather some together if you can and sort them.

Did you sort them by shape or size or colour? Maybe you sorted them using a different criteria.

Choose a coin and put it under a piece of drawing paper. Rub over the top of the coin with a colouring pencil. What happens?

Science

I know that lots of children in P1/2 love to hunt for minibeasts in our school playground. Some very kind people even build little homes for them to provide shelter from the sun or the wind and rain!

I wonder if you have any of these tiny creatures in your garden. Or maybe you've spotted some when you have been out for a walk.

Remember to be very quiet and gentle, and wash your hands if you handle any of the minibeasts.

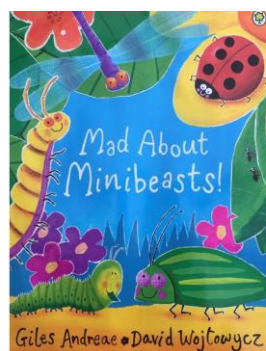

I know that lots of you have said how much you have enjoyed doing some of the outdoor activities, so here are a couple of links to a website with lots of ideas. Maybe you'll find something that would really interest your whole family.

Here are some nature activities from the Woodland Trust
