Castles

Castles were built to:

- control the surrounding area;
- defend against attack from enemies;
- launch firepower to attack enemies.

Fun Facts!

A private fortified residence of a lord or noble, such as a King or Queen, is usually called a castle. Castles have similarities with other constructions like palaces, fortresses and fortified settlements, but they are not the same. Castles have been built for around 900 years and originated in the 9th and 10th centuries. Earth and timber were originally used to build castles, but later these materials were replaced by stone. In the 12th and early 13th centuries, to make the castles better, they began including towers.

Features of a Castle

- The main castle gate or door was hard to break through because it was usually made from thick, iron-studded wood.
- The portcullis was the spiked barrier which protected the doors from fire and battering. It was made from metal or wood and could be lowered by chains.
- Moats surrounded the castle to make it harder for enemies to tunnel underground into the castle and enemies could be spotted easily trying to swim or row across.
- As part of the gateway defences, drawbridges could stop enemies getting across as they could be pulled up.
- Defenders of the castle could shoot down from the tall gate towers.
- Castles were built on high ground so that defenders could have a clear view of the surrounding area.
- The steep banks of earth or rubble surrounding the castle, called ramparts, made it harder for enemies to climb over to enter the castle.
- The high walls of the castle made it difficult for enemies to climb.
- Tall, thick curtain walls around the castle shielded the castle from attack.
- Flanking towers built in the curtain wall provided good viewing and attacking platforms to defend the castle.
- Battlements were the tooth shaped top of the castle walls where the defenders could fire missiles through the gaps (crenels) and hide behind the raised sections (merlons).
- Machicolations were the stone boxes that stuck out from the walls. The holes were good for dropping stones or boiling oil on to attackers. Wooden boxes were called hoards.
