

P5 News

A Happy New Year to everyone from P5. We trust that you enjoyed our Christmas Concert performance and a great big thank you for all whom attended. P5 really showed what they are made of by learning two songs in Afrikaans and I am very PROUD of their commitment and effort. Our Christmas party with P4 and P5/4 was great fun and you can have a sneak peek at some of the pictures on the blog.

This term we are continuing to explore Scotland and its many treasures. We enjoyed exploring the ancient Stone Age village of Scara Brae and found out many interesting facts about the people that live there so long ago. We are continuing our journey through Scotland to look at many of its fantastic features and landmarks.

The P5's have done some excellent research on Charles Rennie MacIntosh and we are attempting to do art in a similar art form.

We will also be learning emergency life skills as part of the Heartstart project. We can tell you what to look for when helping a person in trouble and how to put someone into the recovery position until help arrives.
