

IDL: How to use a map

As we begin to explore our new topic of WEATHER we shall also be looking at weather in different countries.

It is an important skill, when finding out about a different country, to be able to read a map.

Today we will begin an introduction to this using the BBC Bitesize daily lesson.

Follow along with the activities following the link below;

Now it's your turn!

On a blank piece of paper have a go at drawing your own map of your street or your local area.

Remember to mark in all of the important features.

Underline any natural features in green e.g. rivers, hills etc.

Underline any managed features in yellow e.g. sports fields, gardens, parks.

Underline any constructed features in blue e.g. roads, bridges.
